1	Bzr integration.	Jun 23, 2010 9:51 AM
2	It mostly works, mostly works quickly and has a logical (to my mind) structure.	Jun 23, 2010 9:57 AM
3	Builds, PPAs, Bug Tracket, Code Hosting	Jun 23, 2010 9:58 AM
4	Almost everything I need is available at the same place. Nice and very convenient UI.	Jun 23, 2010 10:03 AM
5	Everything in one place, easy to use and pretty well integrated.	Jun 23, 2010 10:16 AM
6	Tight integration between bug tracker, bazaar, questions and blueprints.	Jun 23, 2010 10:33 AM
7	Simplicity	Jun 23, 2010 10:49 AM
8	It is very complete and lets me manage my software from a to z without having to install a lot of stuff on my laptop. It is also a good way to centralize the versions of my software and its management. And also: its design. It is awesome, and a real pleasure to use.	Jun 23, 2010 11:38 AM
9	The integration between Bazaar and Launchpad (code hosting, merge proposals, bug links). There are still some little features that I'd like to see, but it's amazing how easy is to push your code and share it with other developers.	Jun 23, 2010 11:41 AM
10	Integration between lists, bugs, translation. It's a good system/forgo to cover a project's needs.	Jun 23, 2010 11:43 AM
11	Everything in one place. Bugs, translations, mailing-lists, merges, code. Only some kind of wiki is missing for the documentation.	Jun 23, 2010 12:31 PM
12	User interface, ability to plan future releases and Bazaar integration	Jun 23, 2010 12:32 PM
13	Ability to subscribe to issues easily	Jun 23, 2010 12:42 PM
14	Bazaar support, tight integration between different components, awesome bug tracker.	Jun 23, 2010 12:47 PM
15	its simple interface	Jun 23, 2010 12:53 PM
16	The fact that LP is a complete suite of tools you need to develop software in all sizes, from a small script to a large application. I also like the way the development process is build around tools like bzr, code.launchpad.net and bugs.launchpad.net - this works pretty well for me.	Jun 23, 2010 12:54 PM
17	translation interface. the heatmap of bugs	Jun 23, 2010 12:57 PM
18	Strong integration with bazaar	Jun 23, 2010 1:05 PM
19	The possibility to make partial translations whenever I have some free time to do it	Jun 23, 2010 1:05 PM
20	Clean interface; PPA.	Jun 23, 2010 1:05 PM
21	good bazaar integration	Jun 23, 2010 1:06 PM
22	bug are very easy to find. LP looks super cool when compared to the ugly bugzilla or any other bug tracker for that matter. its fast	Jun 23, 2010 1:09 PM
23	easy bzr hosting/branching	Jun 23, 2010 1:10 PM
24	Strong integration between parts, and each part being quality in and of itself.	Jun 23, 2010 1:11 PM

Response Text
25	Visual appeal :)	Jun 23, 2010 1:16 PM
26	The code hosting and induced workflow is great.	Jun 23, 2010 1:16 PM
27	It's got it all integrated, and is much less of a mess than sourceforge.	Jun 23, 2010 1:18 PM
28	all in one place (code-bugs-packages)	Jun 23, 2010 1:21 PM
29	Most of the time (say, ~80%) it works and doesn't get in my way.	Jun 23, 2010 1:36 PM
30	Integration of wide range of project hosting tools.	Jun 23, 2010 1:37 PM
31	Ease of collaboration.	Jun 23, 2010 1:38 PM
32	Good looking	Jun 23, 2010 1:41 PM
33	Easy to browse bugs, good google visibility. BZR integration is also cool, but haven't used that much yet.	Jun 23, 2010 1:52 PM
34	Unification of services	Jun 23, 2010 2:01 PM
35	easy to use? :)	Jun 23, 2010 2:08 PM
36	Interface	Jun 23, 2010 2:08 PM
37	Good integration of tools, PPAs, pleasing user interface	Jun 23, 2010 2:15 PM
38	I am not sure	Jun 23, 2010 2:17 PM
39	integration of multiple projects, especially upstream	Jun 23, 2010 2:22 PM
40	centralised	Jun 23, 2010 2:24 PM
41	Ease of use, the interface. Translations Blueprints	Jun 23, 2010 2:28 PM
42	project management, code hosting, mailing list, bug track etc.	Jun 23, 2010 2:31 PM
43	Translations and Bazaar integration PPA	Jun 23, 2010 2:33 PM
44	Detail of information.	Jun 23, 2010 2:34 PM
45	Sharing the work what we do.	Jun 23, 2010 2:37 PM
46	Not much. It's very useful for developers due to its technical features.	Jun 23, 2010 2:41 PM
47	the bug reporting system seems ok PPAs are awesome.	Jun 23, 2010 2:43 PM
48	It offers everything I need to manage software. (Users, bugs, branches, roadmaps etc)	Jun 23, 2010 2:46 PM
49	1. Can translate all the applications in the same website 2. No need to download and upload files just do it online	Jun 23, 2010 2:54 PM
50	Its integration of bug tracking, source repository and translations	Jun 23, 2010 3:00 PM
51	bug trucker, ppa, translation interface	Jun 23, 2010 3:27 PM
52	- the interface	Jun 23, 2010 3:31 PM
53	You can always help	Jun 23, 2010 3:35 PM
54	Rosetta is pure awesome (sadly the danish team still forces translators to work on mailinglists instead to it's ultimately useless) and the "I am also affected" option really adds some important value to bug reporting.	Jun 23, 2010 3:37 PM
55	Easy to use.	Jun 23, 2010 3:44 PM
56	The ease-of-use of the bug management interface.	Jun 23, 2010 3:47 PM
57	design & features	Jun 23, 2010 3:49 PM
58	Its bug tracking is quite nice.	Jun 23, 2010 3:53 PM
59	It is a stable resource with easy-to-find information about bugs	Jun 23, 2010 4:04 PM
60	Easy to use Well designed Integrated with Ubuntu	Jun 23, 2010 4:13 PM
61	well I can file bugs on my Ubuntu	Jun 23, 2010 4:26 PM
62	code import, easy branching and PPA	Jun 23, 2010 4:55 PM
63	The ease of use.	Jun 23, 2010 4:56 PM

Response Text
64	Web interface. Nice layout. Fast.	Jun 23, 2010 4:57 PM
65	The tight integration with Ubuntu like the PPA's and Bazaar	Jun 23, 2010 4:58 PM
66	I like how easy it is to get started. It is better than sourceforge, github, gitorious, bugzilla, redmine, and trac.	Jun 23, 2010 5:08 PM
67	Not much	Jun 23, 2010 5:08 PM
68	consistency across projects, everything in one place and easy to find	Jun 23, 2010 5:12 PM
69	PPAs	Jun 23, 2010 5:13 PM
70	translations	Jun 23, 2010 5:35 PM
71	Launchpad Answers site. It's a jewel the too few Ubuntu users know about. Great resource for solving issues efficiently and with minimum noise.	Jun 23, 2010 5:41 PM
72	The display of a merge proposal is pretty good, including the file diffs. It's free!	Jun 23, 2010 5:47 PM
73	is easy to use and intuitive	Jun 23, 2010 6:03 PM
74	It's clean interface.	Jun 23, 2010 6:09 PM
75	Bazaar integration for branching, merging and code review.	Jun 23, 2010 6:45 PM
76	That it supports most of the development lifecycle. It's very nice that all of it is cross-linked and it's very easy to jump, say, from a bug report to the branch to the project release to a question etc. Having a way to create .debs also comes handy.	Jun 23, 2010 7:09 PM
77	Easy searches for what you need to find, and quick responses to bug reports.	Jun 23, 2010 7:11 PM
78	Ppas, intuitive bug reporting procedure	Jun 23, 2010 7:14 PM
79	Combination of bug reports and projects in one place.	Jun 23, 2010 7:25 PM
80	It's intuitive and very useful	Jun 23, 2010 7:41 PM
81	Integration between the different tools and with Bazaar. Karma.	Jun 23, 2010 7:43 PM
82	The clean efficient design. The UI part rocks and now they have even released a RESTful API. Launchpad gonna be the best and most feature rich bug tracker on this planet.	Jun 23, 2010 8:07 PM
83	The connections you can make between bugs, blueprints, branches, answers, merge requests, upstream projects, milestones and series.	Jun 23, 2010 8:08 PM
84	Integration of many tools, PPA repositories, Answer section, Translation tool	Jun 23, 2010 8:13 PM
85	The collaboration and the integration between all parts of a software development process	Jun 23, 2010 8:36 PM
86	That I can file bugs and click the 'this affects me' link.	Jun 23, 2010 8:46 PM
87	PPA's as user and as developer when builders queue is empty =) Connected bug tracking across projects, distributions and bug-trackers.	Jun 23, 2010 9:42 PM
88	The Code/branch/review integration.	Jun 23, 2010 9:49 PM
89	Simple uncluttered layout.	Jun 23, 2010 9:53 PM
90	The Karma system is kind of neat.	Jun 23, 2010 10:00 PM
91	* Most of the information regarding all packages in Ubuntu is available. * Often on par with forums/web searches when it comes to problem-solving * PPAs (Both my own and others) * Best bugtracker out there as far as I'm concerned	Jun 23, 2010 10:03 PM
92	AJAX clean interface less cluttered than Bugzilla, Sourceforge, etc. faster and more responsive than Bugzilla, Sourceforge, etc. Mail interface to Malone "Also Affects Me" Button in Malone	Jun 23, 2010 10:05 PM
93	The bug tracker is one of the most advanced and pleasant to work with bug trackers I've ever seen (including some proprietary ones).	Jun 23, 2010 10:23 PM
94	Simple and clean interface, open source etc	Jun 23, 2010 10:45 PM
95	Simple, efficient, powerfull	Jun 23, 2010 10:55 PM

Response Text
96	all information in consistent UI	Jun 23, 2010 11:06 PM
97	Very, very friendly user interface that doesn't rely on email.	Jun 23, 2010 11:06 PM
98	The bug tracker.	Jun 23, 2010 11:27 PM
99	Usability	Jun 23, 2010 11:27 PM
100	* The interface * Bug system * PPAs!!!	Jun 23, 2010 11:42 PM
101	The usability of the bug tracker	Jun 23, 2010 11:46 PM
102	simplicity	Jun 24, 2010 12:07 AM
103	Integration with other upstream trackers	Jun 24, 2010 1:44 AM
104	Simple and nice interface	Jun 24, 2010 4:45 AM
105	Everything is integrated: Code, Bugs, Blueprints, Translation, ... Design is pretty cool, and most of the platform is easy to use.	Jun 24, 2010 8:00 AM
106	that is open source	Jun 24, 2010 11:36 AM
107	Ease of finding things	Jun 24, 2010 11:36 AM
108	easy to change bug status, link upstream bugs etc. (in particular, compared to systems like Debians bug tracker!)	Jun 24, 2010 3:06 PM
109	ease of use, friendliness.	Jun 24, 2010 3:36 PM
110	It provides everything with a sane user interface.	Jun 24, 2010 6:49 PM
111	All-in-one, and pretty good for every task it does.	Jun 24, 2010 8:29 PM
112	Everything to support free software development and releases in one place, very useful to a software developer like me that doesn't like the tyranny and profiteering of Sourceforge.	Jun 24, 2010 9:48 PM
113	Open source site Lot of information	Jun 24, 2010 10:42 PM
114	Very centralized for the Ubuntu project. Instead of lots of teams just using their own tools and SCMs, everything is together for the most part.	Jun 25, 2010 2:23 AM
115	bzr	Jun 25, 2010 2:43 AM
116	All in one system, source code, bug tracking, project management, release management	Jun 25, 2010 4:20 AM
117	it's reasonably well integrated. it uses bzr.	Jun 25, 2010 11:29 AM
118	Single place with lots of functionality	Jun 25, 2010 1:29 PM
119	the big number of projects	Jun 25, 2010 1:37 PM
120	It's home! Way better than sourceforge	Jun 25, 2010 8:42 PM
121	It's neatly intergrate platform with broad capabilities. The best single point of contact with the actual development.	Jun 26, 2010 12:03 PM
122	Easy and openness. Everybody can collaborate without too much efforts.	Jun 26, 2010 6:59 PM
123	integradtion of all projects	Jun 26, 2010 9:15 PM
124	Stability, Easy UI.	Jun 27, 2010 12:44 AM
125	The way maintainers can create ppa's with fix propositions.	Jun 27, 2010 8:59 AM
126	PPA's, the bug tracker and the fact that Launchpad is Open Source Software.	Jun 28, 2010 12:23 AM
127	powerfull, userfriendly	Jun 28, 2010 3:43 AM
128	Malone...and maybe Bazaar...	Jun 28, 2010 4:33 AM
129	The control that is available to bugs. Translating is easy.	Jun 28, 2010 12:13 PM
130	easy user interface	Jun 28, 2010 1:31 PM
131	I like how it isnt overly busy and I am able to find what I need to find quickly	Jun 28, 2010 5:50 PM
132	It's very simple to update information; just click the yellow pencil and go.	Jun 28, 2010 8:21 PM
133	clean and modern looking web interface	Jun 28, 2010 8:53 PM
134	Beats the hell out of bugzilla, mantis etc. Friendlier UI than sourceforge, active community. Wide range of well integrated tools - DVCS, bug tracking, translations etc.	Jun 28, 2010 10:31 PM

Response Text
135	Finally aggregated bug reporting from multiple bug trackers!	Jun 28, 2010 10:47 PM
136	It is very easy to use - right from the beginning - without making more advanced and sophisticated tasks complicated or time consuming. It is powerful and has a very good balance and choice of features.	Jun 29, 2010 6:01 AM
137	Everything is linked in a way that helps bring projects together and assist working together with upstream. Also the UI is very simple and easy to quickly get to grips with.	Jun 29, 2010 11:59 AM
138	The efficient bzd branching/merge requesting and the simple bug subscription with the brief notification emails.	Jun 29, 2010 12:20 PM
139	Its clean, simple but powerfull user interface.	Jun 29, 2010 6:53 PM
140	How easy it is to perform tasks that with other existing open source collaborative platforms is otherwise a pain. In short: the low entry barrier and the simple, clean interface.	Jun 30, 2010 9:27 AM
141	Launchpad is deadly easy to use for traslating software.	Jun 30, 2010 11:35 AM
142	I very much enjoy the code hosting system, including branch hosting and merge proposals. Also, PPAs are pretty awesome.	Jun 30, 2010 11:41 AM
143	I like that Launchpad is a very active community. I also love its close relationship with Bazaar, which is the first version control system that is human-friendly enough for me to actually enjoy using. I like that Launchpad is experimenting with ideas like "Bug Heat" to explore new ways to push the frontiers of how software development tracks Bugs and responds to them. I love its support for OpenID (which I use extensively). Although I haven't made much use of it yet, I think Launchpad's approach to Translations is one of the best ideas I've seen for software development in a long time. I definitely think Launchpad could teach SourceForge a few lessons. :)	Jun 30, 2010 11:58 AM
144	Bug reporting and the Questions area	Jun 30, 2010 2:19 PM
145	PPA and Bazaar.	Jun 30, 2010 5:51 PM
146	No feature bloat, uses Bazaar (easy to use VCS)	Jun 30, 2010 7:47 PM
147	Useful tools, good groups system, PPAs & code hosting	Jun 30, 2010 10:09 PM
148	The bug reporting system is awesome	Jul 1, 2010 1:38 AM
149	Integration between bugs and branches. Code review.	Jul 1, 2010 8:45 AM
150	Nicely integrated toolset	Jul 1, 2010 1:35 PM
151	Nothing, couldn't use.	Jul 2, 2010 3:09 AM
152	I like that it is a central place to host the code, track bugs, plan features, and manage the project and mailing list.	Jul 2, 2010 4:09 AM
153	Ease of use, translation suggestions from other packages, easy way to revise other people suggestions	Jul 2, 2010 7:43 AM
154	It's design - fast, sleek and stays fully in the background, making it easier to focus on something currently being done. And of course the bug tracker, nothing better is out there.	Jul 2, 2010 8:19 AM
155	the build farm allows me to keep my own pc clean	Jul 2, 2010 12:12 PM
156	The ability to receive email when activity occurs on a bug, answer, etc. [the email is clear as to what happened, and it is nice that replying will also post back to launchpad] Ease of use. PPAs are nice. I like the user pages where you can see what your involved in.	Jul 2, 2010 7:55 PM
157	It's quite simple (at least compared to other platforms...)	Jul 3, 2010 6:54 AM
158	it's open and community-based	Jul 3, 2010 10:08 AM
159	The interface, the branch concept	Jul 3, 2010 1:42 PM
160	The PPAs.	Jul 4, 2010 2:28 AM
161	Integration with the whole subset of Ubuntu features needed for development (bzd, bugs, ppa, blueprint, etc).	Jul 4, 2010 6:54 PM
162	Seamless Bazaar Integration!	Jul 5, 2010 9:43 AM
163	Its ease of use and the way the URL is structured, makes it easy to navigate.	Jul 6, 2010 7:40 AM
164	PPAs	Jul 6, 2010 9:19 AM

Response Text
165	A friendly UI.	Jul 6, 2010 2:10 PM
166	The varous things you can do.	Jul 6, 2010 8:30 PM
167	The respectful and concise answers to questions	Jul 7, 2010 12:37 AM
168	one stop shop	Jul 7, 2010 12:53 AM
169	The fact the it standardizes and therefore eases collaboration to open-source projects.	Jul 7, 2010 2:12 AM
170	ease of use and friendliness	Jul 7, 2010 2:55 AM
171	Bazaar, merge review, loggerhead, project-oriented design.	Jul 7, 2010 6:05 AM
172	Easy to browse, feature explanatations for first timers	Jul 7, 2010 6:28 AM
173	It's very clean and easy to read.	Jul 7, 2010 6:32 AM
174	The unification of all the development aspects.	Jul 7, 2010 8:52 AM
175	Being a huge community for open source lovers	Jul 7, 2010 10:17 AM
176	That it's a complete project hosting platform	Jul 7, 2010 10:56 AM
177	The usability	Jul 7, 2010 11:02 AM
178	The ease of use and flexibility of this great tool. The centralization: Managing practically all on a single platform. The Karma system: I think it's motivating and let's others see your involvement or status in the community.	Jul 7, 2010 11:38 AM
179	The ability to have a central place for my projects (which is also possibly indexed by Google?), with a whole lot of functionality that otherwise I need to somehow host and maintain myself.	Jul 7, 2010 12:12 PM
180	Translation web interface which is _a lot_ more convenient than dealing with PO files directly.	Jul 7, 2010 1:12 PM
181	asy to do	Jul 7, 2010 1:38 PM
182	Real solutions & answers	Jul 7, 2010 1:48 PM
183	community, how everything's tied together.	Jul 7, 2010 2:26 PM
184	Accessibility, simplicity, usability, able to do some stuff over channels other than the web.	Jul 7, 2010 4:04 PM
185	The packaging system! Well done.	Jul 7, 2010 5:46 PM
186	- Launchpad is a capable tool to organize work. It provides a lot of predefined structure, but does not completely prescribe a certain workflow. - Although it is quite complex it can be used mostly without reading any documentation.	Jul 7, 2010 7:24 PM
187	To do something	Jul 7, 2010 9:21 PM
188	Clean layout, easy searching.	Jul 7, 2010 10:12 PM
189	What I like in Launchpad is that it's easy to discover new projects and it's done in a way that it makes users want to help those projects.	Jul 7, 2010 10:25 PM
190	PPA's: build system / source code repository / fix distribution vehicle, all rolled into one.	Jul 7, 2010 10:32 PM
191	The efficiency of the workflows it enables and the integration of almost every aspect of free software development in an integrated platform. It makes easy for people to work together on software project at a very large scale.	Jul 7, 2010 11:55 PM
192	It is free, and one you learn it, you can power use it. It is also very fast (compared to sourceforge.net)	Jul 8, 2010 1:05 AM
193	I like being able to build packages for various Ubuntu releases without maintaining chroots for each of them.	Jul 8, 2010 2:34 AM
194	It's a consistent way to deal with bugs and resolution of problems.	Jul 8, 2010 3:38 AM
195	OpenID	Jul 8, 2010 9:33 AM
196	It has great integration and features useful for complete life cycle management of a software. It's wonderful that it is free for FOSS projects!	Jul 8, 2010 9:38 AM
197	It's very comfortable to work with.	Jul 8, 2010 9:59 AM
198	i don't use it much except for Ubuntu so im not sure.	Jul 8, 2010 5:27 PM
199	The ability to contribute to the Ubuntu project and to the Ubuntu community	Jul 8, 2010 8:45 PM

200	Code Management; absolutely amazing, it's easily my favorite part of Launchpad. Personal Package Archives; fantastic, a great way to keep users up to date with the latest versions without the hassle and headache of setting up an entire build system just for a particular project. Bug tracker; works wonderfully, and benefits a great deal from the website's clean simple interface. For the website itself; the simple, minimal design that keeps things useful and usable on any system, even my smartphone.	Jul 8, 2010 10:22 PM

367	Hosted, open development.	Jul 25, 2010 1:08 AM
368	Clean, clutter-free, bright, and easy user interface combined with the services I need. A good concept with teams, projects, sub-projects, translations etcetera. The demo (staging.launchpad.net) is a great idea, because you do not hesitate to test and learn. The total opposite of SourceForge.	Jul 25, 2010 1:51 AM
369	True idea of open source	Jul 25, 2010 1:09 PM

374	Some positives: - the concept of Triage is good - and in line with controlling multiple case inputs. This however is far too underutilised, and does not appear to be as effective with control and coordination as it ought to. Triage not only prioritises; it reviews. - the apport system is useful - but again needs to be made further idiot proof for lay users.	Jul 26, 2010 6:45 PM

391	Easy branching, large translators' community.	Jul 28, 2010 3:55 PM
392	I like the way you are able to browse though so many different topics, so as to get the info you are looking for, also the ability to ask many question to so many different users and be able to review the many answers from the combined community, then you you have the option to implement the ideas of many, thus being able to solve problems and also test which method would best fix the problem or problems in my case. One of which is fakeroot and the redirection of the filesystem to a virtualised server or remote hosted system.(IPV6 and IPV4 gateway 0.0.0.0, the .locks on modules and file extensions and the lockdown of installed virtualised applications rendering them useless (wireshark). Launchpad Many Minds ask many questions, Many Minds Answer Many Questions with many options. Which then offer the best possible solutions to many asked questions .	Jul 28, 2010 6:33 PM

452	Not a lot. 1st, this site is insistent on the length of my password, the numeral and one uppercase letter. It's over the top Mother mode, as usual for the "correct think" types that abound within the Ubuntu organization. The relative strength of my personal password is my business. It really jerks me off when Ubuntu dictates to me is my password is a good one or not. In the streets, you would be told to "stay out of my face".
